END OF SCHOOL NEARS, SENIOR PLAY IS GIVEN

Quaint Drama and Humor of "Little Women" Revealed at Grand Theater

TWO LARGE AUDIENCES

Class Day Exercises Held This Afternoon at Chautauqua Pavilion

Friday will be a red letter day in the lives of the 6,000 students in the city school system. To 239 seniors Harding High School it will mark the close of 12 years of school work, while to others of the high school students it will mean the completion of one more step in the pursuit of education.

To many children of the grade school it will mark the termination of grade school days and permission to enter high school. And, to all students with the exception of students of the vocational course at Harding High School it will mean a vacation of three months.

Senior activities will conclude at 8:15 o'clock Friday night at Chautauqua Pavilion when the graduates will assemble, in cap and gown for the annual commencement ceremonies.

Class Day Exercises

Class day exercises are being held this afternoon at Chautauqua Pavilion. In other buildings throughout the city students were dismissed yesterday with instructions to return Friday for final report cards.

Schedule of closing activities among the graduates got under way yesterday when the senior class play, "Little Women" was presented in the afternoon and at night in the Grand Theater.

The intense feeling with which the emotional roles were played, quaint costuming and regard for detail in stage settings as well as the capable direction of Miss Lucile Foreman was responsible for the success of the play, presented before capacity audiences at both performances.

Play Proves Delight

With Miss Hallie Houck in the leading role of Jo, the tomboy but most loving and self-sacrificing of all the little women, and Joe Ramert as Laurie, the handsome young friend of the little women with his abundance of good will and love, the play proved a delight both for those who had not cried in childhood over Louisa May Alcott's book from which the play is taken, as well as for those who had grown to love "Little Women" as children.

Other outstanding roles were those of Miss Virginia Wilson who played with unique ability, the character role

Ontario Enters on Second Day of New Temperance Regime

Windsor, Ont., June 2. Beer and ale are in the refrigerator and sparkling red wines, white wines and burgundies are ranged on the sideboard with bottles of black and white and heather dew in hundreds of Ontario homes today. Ontario is upon its second day under the new temperance regime, whereby re-dcots and tour to holding permits may, on, what they want at government stores for home consumption.

Windsor's two government stores opened yesterday. Hundreds patronized them. There were women with children in their arms, old men, rich men and men with dinner pails and grimy clothing.

Because of the rush of buyers who were residents of the border cities authorities had no time to issue permits to tourists. Thirsty pilgrims from the American side of the river, anxious to share in the grand slide off the water wagon, were disappointed. Only the few who obtained tourists permit several days before the opening were successful.

MOTHER TO MEET SON IN CAPITAL

Detroit, June 2—Mrs Evangeline Lodge Lindbergh, mother of Capt. Charles A. Lindbergh, and Acting Mayor John C. Lodge, grand uncle of the famous aviator, will go to Washington to greet Lindbergh when he arrives June 11, it was announced today. Former plans to meet him in New York were abandoned when it was learned he had accepted President Coolidge's invitation to visit the capital first.

U. S. READY TO COPE WITH NEW CHINESE CRISIS

Troops Are Sent to North China To Protect American Citizens

TO EVACUATE LEGATION

Nationals Can Be Helped Best at Tientsin or Shanghai, Is Belief

Washington, June 2—The United States is prepared to act with exceeding swiftness in coping with the new crisis which suddenly has arisen in China.

Plans for this action were drawn up weeks ago and were based on the well grounded belief that despite the division in the Cantonese ranks the Nationalist movement was by no means dead and would probably be heard from again in the near future.

The program mapped out by the government does not call for any last ditch defense of Peking, such as has been suggested in London and Tokio in the event local government in that part of China collapses completely. The American forces are under strict orders to remain neutral as between the various contending Chinese factions and to take no part in the fighting except in the defense of American citizens.

To Move Legation

Foremost among the considerations of this government is that its nationals shall be protected and that there must be no repetition of the Nanking affair of March 24. Being of the opinion that Americans can best be protected at Tientsin or Shanghai rather than at Peking, the government has already prepared to evacuate the legation in the latter city to a port city. Americans in north China have already been advised to withdraw to Tientsin and most of them have done so.

It is also hoped that removal of the legation will eliminate a source of danger to American interests inasmuch as any violation of the legation by the Chinese would undoubtedly serve to draw the United States into the Chinese civil war.

To Protect Americans

The movement of two regiments of marines from Shanghai to Tientsin is wholly in accord with American policy, it was explained at the state department. The marines will be used to protect the American nationals now concentrated in the north China city and to guard the legation when and if it is moved. The regiments sailing from Shanghai today will be followed within the week by other marines, it was indicated.

The navy department today ordered eight warships to Chefoo, at the head of Tientsin bay.

Orville Gibson Pleads Guilty When "Shorty" Longfellow Is Convicted

PAUL BIRD TRIAL OFF

Likely To Enter Guilty Plea Monday; Sentences in Few Days

Developments in the court of common pleas today indicated that a complete victory has been scored in prosecution of the eight men indicted as alleged members of Marion County's farm robbery ring.

Following trials in which three of the prisoners were convicted, Orville Gibson, whose trial was set for today, appeared before Judge Scofield this morning and pleaded guilty to the charge of grand larceny.

Paul Bird, another of the eight indicted men, was to be tried Friday but his trial was called off when his attorney indicated that he would enter a plea of guilty Monday. This leaves the outcome of only one of the eight cases in doubt. Clyde Rogers has not made known his intentions but court officials expressed the opinion today that he would fall in line and plead guilty.

Follows Verdict

Lester Bird, brother of Paul, and Edward "Soapy" Shaffer, entered pleas of guilty when arraigned about two weeks ago and their testimony in the trials of their alleged accomplices had much to do with the verdicts of guilty returned by the jury.

All of the eight, with the exception of W. C. "Shorty" Longfellow, confessed when questioned by officials shortly after their arrest. When placed on trial, however, James Henry and John Kurtz repudiated the confessions, alleging that they had made the statements on promise of immunity from officials.

An effort to prevent the confessions from being introduced as evidence failed when Judge Scofield overruled motions made by the defense attorneys. Officers testified that absolutely no promises of immunity were made. Sheriff Deal stating that he told all of the prisoners to plead not guilty and stand trial if they were innocent.

Gibson's confession followed a verdict of guilty returned yesterday against Longfellow, a farm tenant whose home is near La Rue, who was tried on the

FURTHER PLANS FOR CANAL SUPER HIGHWAY

Middletown Civic Associaton May Appoint Permanent Committee

Middletown, June 2—Officials of the Middletown Civic Association today were considering the appointment of a permanent committee to forward plans for the establishing and paving of a super highway from the Ohio River to Lake Erie following the route of the Old Miami and Erie canal.

A resolution was adopted here last night at a meeting held by the board of trade as an appreciation of the work of Senator De Armond and Representative Goodwin and members of the Middletown Canal Abandonment Committee who recently succeeded in having the Dearmond Canal Abandonment Bill passed.

It is proposed to ask all cities along the route of the abandoned canal to join Middletown citizens in their efforts to obtain this highway as early as possible.

REVOLT AT END?

Manifesto, Purported from Garza, Urges Rebels Lay Down Arms

Mexico City, June 2—A manifesto, purporting to emanate from Rene Capistran Garza, leader of the religious rebellion, advising rebels to lay down their arms, has been published here.

The manifesto declares that due to military defeats, the death of Gen. Rodolfo Gallegos, the forced departure of Archbishop Jiminez and financial stringency, the revolt must be abandoned.

The manifesto alleges that funds which were to have been forthcoming from an American organization have not been furnished.

SAM HURRIES HOME

Columbia-st and Blaine-av Resurfacing Contracts Are Awarded by Control Board

Republic Asphalt Paving Co., Dayton, Awarded Largest Piece of Street Work for $38,347.33; Sanitary and Storm Sewers Work Let

Contracts for the resurfacing of two streets, the construction of storm and sanitary sewers in three streets and the laying of one sidewalk at a total expenditure of $52,705.50 were let today by the city board of control, composed of Mayor Earl Hoyer, Service Director O. A. Benedict and Safety Director W. B. Straver. All successful bids were well under the city engineer's estimate.

The most important piece of work included in the contracts let today is the resurfacing of Columbia-st from Davids to Highsts, a distance of 1,800 feet. The contract for this improvement went to the Republic Asphalt Paving Co., Dayton, on its bid of $38,347.33. It will be resurfaced with Trinidad asphalt.

In Bad Condition

This thoroughfare has been in bad condition for a long time and has been particularly bad since the completion of work on the sanitary storm water sewer two years ago.

The street is 26 feet wide. Work of improving it will entail the spreading of 15,780 square yards of asphalt.

Next in importance but not in size is the improvement of Blaine-av from Center to Church-sts, a thoroughfare that likewise has been in bad condition since the completion of work on the sanitary sewer system two years ago.

Contract for the work on this street went to J. C. & W. K. Drake on a bid of $2,884.44. The street will be resurfaced with Grade 2 Amesite. The part to be resurfaced is 25 feet wide and approximately 500 feet long and includes 1,722 square yards.

Eight Inch Mains

The three streets in which storm and sanitary sewers are to be laid are Kensington-pl, Chambers-st and Johnson-st. The sanitary mains are to be eight inches in diameter and the storm water mains 12 inches.

George Landon was awarded the contract for placing the two sewers in Kensington-pl from Church-st to Indiana-av on his bid of $3,532.08. Uncapher & Gillespie, Marion contractors, received the contract for the sewer work in Chambers-st from Keener-av to South Vernon, on a bid of $4,207.30. Contract for the Johnson-st sewer from Wilson-av north to lot No. 1,876 was awarded to George Landon on his bid of $3,811.10.

H. O. Phelps was given the contract for the construction of a cement side walk on the south side of Edgewood-dr from Prospect-st to the west terminus a distance of 400 feet.

To Use Prestite

Considerable interest is attached to the three sewer jobs inasmuch as the specifications call for the use of Prestite prepared asphaltic joints in the main lines and in all connections running to the sub lines. This method of joining pipe, although comparatively new, has been used with great success in recent sewer construction operations in the city.

According to City Engineer Cathers this method of jointing pipe make the sewers practically water tight and prevents roots from growing into the sewers. Sewers laid but a few years ago with cement joint have already caused the service department trouble through leakage and roots growing into the main Cathers said.

Bids on the various jobs were as follows:

"DEVILMENT" LOVED BY FLIGHT HERO; CALLED JUST BIG KID

Classmate of Lindbergh Reveals Interesting Side of Young Aviator

(A new vision of Charles A. Lindbergh—a delightfully revealing vision of this phenomenal youth—is brought out in this, the seventh of 10 instalments on his life, written so vividly and compellingly by Miss Bonita Witt, who visited Lindbergh's mother to hear the tale from her lips.)

BY BONITA WITT
(Copyright, 1927, by Central Press Co.)
VII

AS the time drew near for Charles Lindbergh's New York-Paris nonstop flight he had little time for jokes. minutes were precious and fun was forgotten. Not so at Brooks-Kelly, the government aviation school at San Antonio, Tex., which Lindbergh attended in 1924-25, his friends say.

Capt. Eugene Stevens, now a "cotton-dusting" flier at Tallulah, La., one of Lindbergh's classmates at the aviation school, recalls when devilment was afoot "the Swede" was never in the background.

"One night," he relates, "before I went to 'town,' I delivered an ultimatum that anyone who mussed my bed in my absence would be dumped to the floor on my return. Turning to Lindbergh, I said, 'Swede, you're going to be the first one to get roughed if my bed has been tampered with.'

"Coming in rather late that night I found my bed topsy-turvy and all my belongings piled on top of it. As I started down the barracks to 'Slim's' bed, I heard the titters of the other cadets following me. Lindbergh looked at me with an innocent look in his big eyes and pleaded, 'Aw, Steve, you wouldn't dump me, would you?'

Lindbergh Was Too Clever

"'Sure would,' I replied, and seized the bed. I yanked and yanked but the bed wouldn't budge. Lindbergh had driven nails into the floor an tied the bedto them with ropes! Couldn't get ahead of the 'Swede' when it came to playing a joke. He was a good sport and could take a joke on himself. 'Slim' was just a great big kid and we all liked him.

"Of course none of us realized then that he was to become a world sensation. He was just one of us."

It was while Lindbergh was a flying cadet that his father died in 1924. Charles A. Lindbergh was one of the outstanding political leaders in Minnesota. He was born in Sweden in 1859, coming to this country the next year.

THIS IS MRS. LINDBERGH'S HOME IN DETROIT AND INSET, A PHOTO OF HER HUSBAND TAKEN IN 1906 WHEN HE WAS CONGRESSMAN

"Slim" wasn't too busy to play a few innocent jokes at school.

"Slim's" grandfather was a member of the Swedish legislature in 1858; political life, therefore, was a heritage.

Congressman Lindbergh was graduated from the law school at the University of Michigan and practiced law in Minnesota for more than 20 years. He achieved recognition as a writer on political economy and social questions and as a congressman aided in the drafting of the Federal Reserve bill. In congress from 1907-1917, he was known as an indefatigable worker.

When he was running for governor of Minnesota on the Farmer-Labor ticket in 1923 Mrs. Lindbergh recalls that young Charles made several flights over Minnesota cities distributing campaign literature. His father accompanied him on a number of these flights.

Becomes Best Marksman

Returning to school after the funeral, "Slim" again plunged whole-heartedly into the routine of learning to be a flier. Target practice gained at the University of Wisconsin stood him in good stead and he became one of the best marksmen in the class.

Shortly before his graduation Lindbergh went with a pursuit squadron to Galveston, Tex., for machine gun practice. The fliers would aim at a cone-shaped object which, in flying parlance is called a "sock," towed at the end of a 600-foot cable by a "tow-target-ship." The cadets would dive for the tow ship, then open machine gun fire.

"Lindbergh," relates Captain Stevens, "twice aimed so accurately as to sever the cable from the ship. At the end of the practice session he had the highest number of 'hits' in the class.

"Luck? perhaps you'd call it that, but there was a lot more science in Lindbergh's shooting than luck."

It was such practical science as this that paved the way for his epoch-making flight.

MAYFIELD SUIT IS CONCLUDED IN LOCAL COURT

Judge Scofield Approves Arbitrators' Report Granting Judgment of $1,837

The suit of J. Raymond Mayfield and others against Mildred B. McMurray, which was referred to a board of arbitrators when it came up for consideration in the court of common pleas recently, was concluded yesterday when Judge Scofield approved the arbitrators' report awarding the plaintiffs judgment for $1,837.

The suit, one of the few on record in the local court in which the arbitration plan was used, involved a dispute over the construction of a dwelling house on Ubler-av.

The house was built by J. Raymond Mayfield and Eugene Mayfield, brothers who do building work under the partnership name of Mayfield Brothers. Miss McMurray, for whom the dwelling was built, refused to pay the full amount of the contract price, claiming that the work was not done according to agreement. She asked that $510 be taken off the amount fixed in the contract.

$86 Cut Allowed

In the award made by the board of arbitration a reduction of only $86 was allowed. Mayfields sued for $1,923, the balance claimed to be due from Miss McMurray, and they were awarded $1,837.

In her suit, Miss McMurray said that Mayfield Brothers were to build her a dwelling which would be the duplicate of a house on E. Church-st and that they failed to comply with this agreement.

The board of arbitrators was made up of J. Lewis Ellis, C. E. Campbell and Forrest Ballinger. All are experienced in building work. The court decided to refer the case to arbitration because of the numerous technical phases involved.

Homer E. Johnson was attorney for Mayfield Brothers and Donithen & Donithen represented the defendant.

To Distribute Proceeds

Proceeds from the sale of two lots in Garfield Park addition to the city of Marion, where Fred Yenny had planned to build a "church for the poor," will be distributed to the several hundred persons who contributed to the church fund as the result of an order issued by Judge Scofield yesterday.

When he found that it would be impossible to finance the church project, Yenny filed a petition in court asking that the property be sold and the money refunded to the donors. The petition was granted and the property sold recently by Sheriff Deal for $800.

Judge Scofield yesterday made an entry of the docket, confirming the sale and authorizing drawing of the deed and distribution of the proceeds.

An order of confirmation of sale and distribution of proceeds was also issued in the partition suit brought by Alice Blanche Whaley against Gerald C. Whaley and others.

GASOLINE NOW 11c

A welcome announcement is the fact that gasoline may now cost only 11c. It is estimated that this reduction would effect a saving of millions of dollars for the American Motorists. This amazing reduction is brought about by a mysterious little device that is easily installed on any car in a few minutes time. E. Oliver, 1041-2240 W. Winnebago St., Milwaukee, Wisc., is so proud of this invention that for a limited time he is offering the device free to auto owners who will help introduce it. He also needs men everywhere and offers profits of $75 to $150 a week to men who will handle local business. Write him at once for his free sample offer and money making proposition.—Adv.

CRYSTAL LAKE TO OPEN CONCESSIONS SUNDAY

Bathing Beach and Amusement Devices To Be Placed in Use

Formal opening of Crystal Lake Park, including the bathing beach and all of the various amusements and other attractions, will take place Sunday, Fred B. Sidell, manager of the park, announced today.

Work of repairing and overhauling of the various amusement devices, redecorating of buildings and improvement of the lawns and grounds has been completed and everything is in first class condition for the season, Mr. Sidell stated.

Whether opening of the bathing season on Sunday will necessarily a Sunday dance program will depend, of course, upon the weather, but regardless of weather prospects the management is making full preparations for that feature of the event.

All of the amusement devices were in operation Memorial Day and were found to be in perfect condition, Manager Sidell says. He anticipates an exceptionally successful season for the park, basing this expectation on the fact that crowds at the park thus far have included not only Marion residents but many persons from other localities in the section of the state.

Sunday afternoon band concerts, under the direction of L. B. McNeal, will be a regular feature throughout the summer. Whether a concert is to take place in connection with the opening next Sunday has not been decided.

Music for the dance program will be by Doc Fenton and his 10-piece University of Oklahoma orchestra.

AUTO CLUBS ARE SUCCESSFUL IN TAX BATTLES

Achievements In Blocking Legislation Unfavorable to Motorists Pointed Out

Officers of the Marion Auto Club received a communication from the State Automobile Association today notifying them that the state organization came out victorious on practically all of its efforts in behalf of motor car owners of the state in the recent session of the legislature.

The local club was aligned with the state organization in supporting practically all features of the legislative campaign.

Nearly $5,000 will be saved to owners of passenger automobile in Ohio through amendment to the Sullivan gasoline tax bill. The letter from state headquarters says, pointing to this as the outstanding achievement of the organization's campaign.

The amendment referred to provides for a reduction in the automobile license tax. Automobile association officers report that they are much elated over this rdeuction, which was the second cut in license charges obtained in successive sessions of the general assembly.

Taxes Cut in Half

Two years ago the tax was cut in half, followed by the further reduction of 50 per cent at the recent session. As a result, owners of Ford cars, who originally paid $8, in the future will pay $2, while owners of Buick cars and others of the same class who formerly paid $12 will now pay only $3, while the higher horse-power cars for which $20 was charged will be assessed $5.

Notwithstanding the reduction in the license tax, local auto club officials are informed, there will still be approximately $15,000,000 for maintenance and repair of highways of the state that will come from the original gasoline tax of two cents a gallon, while the additional one cent a gallon provided in the Sullivan bill will produce an additional amount sufficient for new highway construction each year.

Viewed As Victory

While the State Automobile Association and the various local clubs associated with it put up a fight against any increase in the gasoline tax, the fact that it obtained reduction in the license tax is viewed as a victory, as it means that owners of passenger cars will pay only about one-half a cent increase in gas tax instead of one cent, officers of the organization say.

The association also scored another point by obtaining in the senate an amendment to the Sullivan bill making the additional gasoline tax subject to referendum. However, through a gentleman's agreement between representatives of the state association and members of the senate, no attempt will be made to bring about a referendum due to the license tax being reduced.

Defeat of the compulsory liability insurance bill is referred to as a victory for the automobile organization. Advocates of that measure contended that it would bring about a reduction of automobile accidents, while the state association took an opposite view and offered results in Massachusetts, where a similar law is in effect, to prove its contention. In that state it is said statistics show that motor fatalities have not been reduced. It is asserted that had the bill been passed in Ohio it would have added $30 to $50 annual tax to the operator of a passenger car.

The association also claims credit for defeating a measure which would have placed the issuing of automobile license plates exclusively in the hands of county auditors. The plan will remain as it has been, both the automobile club and county auditors issuing plates for at least two more years.

WEDDINGS AND DIVORCES DECLINE DURING MONTH

May Poor Month in Marion County Courthouse, Records Disclose

Matrimonial and divorce activities both registered a decline in Marion County during May, according to a summary of records compiled at the courthouse today.

During the month only 22 marriage licenses were issued, 13 less than the preceding month and two less than the total for May of last year.

Dan Cupid maintained a formidable lead over the divorce mill, however, only 10 suits for divorce being started last month. In May of last year 13 divorce petitions were filed.

Hawaii Hop Feasible

"Let us take one thing at a time," Adams urged. "When we have mastered the first step—the flight to Hawaii—then we can go forward to the next. The hop to Hawaii is feasible."

Adams also dismissed proposals for a non-stop flight to the far east by pointing to the fact that the non-stop record is 50 hours. The jump from San Francisco to the Orient would require 60 to 70 hours of flying, he estimated.

San Francisco, Los Angeles and Seattle are bidding for the honor of izens' flight committee of San Fran- izens" flight committee of San Fran- cisco promised to announce today a cash prize to the first pilot reaching Honolulu on a flight beginning here.

Expect Los Angeles Offer

Reports that E. L. Doheny had of- fered $45,000 for a non-stop flight from Los Angeles to Hawaii were denied by representatives of the oil magnate. Nevertheless, with Pacific flights tenta- tively narrowed to the hop from the mainland to Hawaii, it was believed that Los Angeles business men will post inducements for take offs from Los Angeles Flying Field. Several days ago they offered $15,000 for a flight from Los Angeles to Japan.

Local pilots who have made over- tures to get planes for the trans-pacific flight are Major Livingston Irving, for- mer member of Nungesser's squadron in France; Clare Vance, airmail pilot; Er- nest Smith, Pacific air transport flier, and Lieut. Eric Nelson, round the world flier.

landing seemed to have considerable weight with the American in reaching his decision.

Fogs Bane of Fliers

The fogs over the channel are the bane of all pilots flying between Paris and London, and only the most exper- ienced pilots who are acquainted with every landmark are willing to attempt a flight when the fogs are hanging low. It is no unusual thing for sev- eral planes to be forced down in a fog, and often times planes cruise up and down the coast for several hours while striving to find their bearings in the mist.

It is understood that "The Spirit of St. Louis" will be taken aboard the Memphis at Southampton tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock instead of today as originally planned. After picking up the plane the Memphis will proceed to Cherbourg for the aviator, who is expected to go on board Saturday morn- ing.

To Bid Farewells

Captain Lindbergh was much relieved to find he was going to have the air- plane on the same ship. He desires to superintend personally the reassembling of the machine at Washington in prep- aration for his flight to New York.

Lindbergh has promised to come back to Europe again. He wants to return when he can have all the time and all the privacy he desires to study European flying methods and European airplane construction at first hand.

Captain Lindbergh's second visit to Paris is entirely unofficial and private and he has refused to make any engage- ments for tomorrow—his last day upon European soil. But he will visit various French officials who have been so kind to him for a farewell and a last word of thanks.

Naturally the young airman is highly elated over the prospect of the honors which await him at the hands of his fellow Americans, especially the high honor of being greeted personally by President Coolidge at Washington.

Rousing Send-off

Honors he has had in plenty in France, Belgium and England—honors such as have never before in all history been accorded to a private citizen in peacetime—but his heart is warmed at the thought of cordial welcomes that he knows will greet him at home.

The exact sailing hour of the Memphis has not yet been set. The cruiser will be given a rousing send-off when she steams from the Cherbourg harbor and will be escorted to sea by a fleet of French airplanes.

To Meet Mother

Captain Lindbergh was much inter- ested in hearing about the Memphis. He was told that she is one of the fastest vessels in the United States Navy and a new craft with all the latest naval improvements. The Memphis could make the trip to Washington in about six and one-half days, but her speed probably will be timed to get her to the United States national capital on June 12.

Captain Lindbergh was elated and interested to learn that his mother had been invited from Detroit to be the guest of Mrs. Coolidge and to assist Presi- dent and Mrs. Coolidge in welcoming him home.

So far as known here Captain Lind- bergh's stay in Washington will be brief. He will fly to New York but is anxious to fly to St. Louis as soon as possible to thank personally the people who sponsored his great transoceanic trip.

Two Men, Two Women, Boy, Dog, Gun Involved In Case

AN unusual case involving two women, two men, a boy, a target rifle and a dead dog was or- dered continued indefinitely pend- ing police investigation by Munici- pal Judge William R. Martin yes- terday.

Only two names appear in the case, those of Albert St. Germain, 134 Mark-st, and Goldie Kurfis, who filed an affidavit against St. Germain, charging him with strik- ing her.

According to St. Germain's story to police he stopped at a filling sta- tion on the Prospect-pk Tuesday to replenish his supply of gasoline. When he arrived there he was set upon by two women who accused him of having killed a dog belong- ing to one of the women. The dog had been killed by a passing motor- ist the day before.

Denying responsibility for the death of the animal availed him nothing, he told police. The women started to attack him while he was explaining he claims.

The affair came to a climax, he said, when the husband of one of the women called to a boy nearby to "bring the gun." As the boy with a target rifle approached, St Germain said, he jumped into his car and escaped.

The charges against him were filed yesterday and his arrest fol- lowed. He was released following a preliminary hearing.

RHEUMATISM HAS VANISHED SINCE HE GOT KONJOLA

Celebrated Medicine Ended Rheumatic Suffering of 4 Years, States Marion Citizen

Countless men and women of Marion and vicinity are turning to this remark- able new Konjola for relief in cases of stomach, liver, kidneys and bowel dis- orders and rheumatic troubles. This surprising remedy has brought such great results within a few short weeks that many grateful statements are already on record from the people of Marion who have been restored to health.

The latest indorsement came from Mr. W. E. Grubb, 345 Windsor Street, this city, a well-known citizen who gave his report in person to the Konjola Man at the Stump & Sams Pharmacy, 121 South Main Street, where large crowds are calling daily to find out for them- selves about this celebrated compound.

"Konjola ended the rheumatism which I had been suffering over four years," said Mr. Grubb, "and I have improved in many other ways from the use of this medicine.

"My arms and back was affected with rheumatism. The joints of my elbows and shoulders were so stiff and sore that I was unable to raise my hand above my head. The muscles in my back seemed to pull and draw, causing sharp pains across my hips. When I attempted to bend over I was sure to suffer intense pains. It was impossible to sleep at nights, because these miseries stayed with me almost every hour. When I did sleep it was only in short spells.

"Well, I started taking Konjola and got relief almost at once. Then I con- tinued with this medicine and now I can use my arms without having pains and the swelling in my elbows has gone entirely. My shoulders are not stiff and achy like they were before. I sleep good, and my appetite is better.

"Yes, my rheumatism has vanished and my health has improved in every way, so I gladly indorse this new Kon- jola after such results."

The Konjola Man is at the Stump Pharmacy, (Stump and Sams), 121 South Main Street, Marion, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free samples given.—Adv.

The Pons-Winnecke Comet.

Newspaper readers will probably see a lot in type this month concerning comets, and particularly the Pons-Winnecke comet, even though the majority of them may not be sufficiently interested to remain up sufficiently late to view the celestial visitor which the astronomers tell us will be visible in the southern sky throughout the present month.

On June 26 the comet will be only 4,000,000 miles distant from the earth, and will be plainly found in the southeastern sky at midnight in the zodiacal constellation, Aquarius. At 3 a. m. it will be directly south of and near the star, Altair, in the constellation, Aquila, the Eagle. Altair is in the center of a row of three bright stars.

The returning visitor was rediscovered by the astronomers of the Yerkes observatory, March 3, as a tiny dot showing on a photographic plate secured by the use of the big reflector of the observatory—not the great Yerkes refractor — reflectors being better adapted to photographic purposes than the instruments fitted with convex object glasses. At that time it appeared as a star of the sixteenth magnitude, ten magnitudes smaller than any celestial object visible to the unaided eye. It has been growing steadily brighter till the human eye is now able to perceive it.

The Pons-Winnecke comet is the first to be visible to the naked eye since Halley's comet in 1910. How bright it will become is yet problematical, but it should show to fine advantage as it will come many times nearer the earth—one astronomer tells us forty times nearer—than ever before.

Great things were expected of Halley's comet, but as a thrilling sight it was something of a disappointment. In fact, the last comet to afford a thrill was back in the early eighties. The Pons-Winnecke comet may equal or even surpass that or it may be no more interesting to the ordinary observer than was Halley's. It seems to be largely a matter of chance.

In any event, those who look for the visitor late this month will be out nothing beyond the sleep and rest they forfeit.

Not Representative of Labor.

Some of the bolshevik element of organized labor may go to Russia as planned, but if anybody imagines that the trip has the endorsement of the American Federation of Labor it will not be the fault of President William Green, of that organization. For the purpose of relieving any wrong impression he says in a statement issued to the press regarding the delegation which is planning to make the trip, "it is not clothed with authority to speak for American labor or for the American Federation of Labor."

Reciting the action of the federation's 1926 convention in the city of Detroit in refusing "to join in any mission to investigate conditions in Russia and issuing warning that no trade unionist should permit himself to participate in any such adventure," President Green says in his statement:

"We concede that individual members of organized labor and the representatives of labor organizations not affiliated with the American Federation of Labor have a perfect right to visit Russia or any other country for the purpose of making an investigation. In doing so, however, they can only speak for themselves or for those groups which confer upon them such authority.

"The officers of the American Federation of Labor draw the line of distinction between a delegation speaking for themselves or for special groups and a delegation classified as an 'American labor delegation' speaking for American labor," and he says that the American Federation of Labor will officially notify organized labor organization in Europe that the group about to sail for Russia "can not be regarded as a labor delegation in the true sense of the word with authority to speak for labor."

We have had frequent occasions to speak of the splendid work the American Federation of Labor has been doing in its campaign against bolshevism, communism and all the other "isms" committed to red activities. It is easily the greatest work against the direct actionists being done by any organized body in the country. It has been, is and bids fair to continue to be fearless in its attacks upon any and all organizations, groups or gangs committed, to violence in any form. It is committed to the sacredness of property rights, law and government, and thus necessarily opposed to all the bolshevikl ideas and theories which have caused the taking of millions of human lives, the loss of billions of dollars' worth of property by robbery and wilful destruction, the decimation of great cities, the stagnation of agricultural, commercial and industrial enterprises and caused general want, misery and desolation throughout Russia.

In this respect, it has shown far greater wisdom than have the governments which have taken the opposite course and given Russia recognition, governments which now are in recession from the unwise action taken by them. In a word, the American Federation of Labor has been in the forefront of the movement which has brought about the present trend, general throughout the civilized world, to repudiate the so-called government which not only scorns all the principles of law, both human and divine, but denies God, Himself.

It's our guess that the Chicago burglar who robbed eight homes up there in less than two hours never spent much time on preliminary surveys.

It is now generally admitted that Lindbergh is an exceptional youth and some of those with persistent thirsts will probably go even further than that and point to the drinks he has turned down as evidence that he is absolutely abnormal.

There is always the old rule of compensation. The coming circus doesn't give a parade, but it carries twenty-five elephants, and to the youngsters, what's an old parade, anyway, compared with feeding peanuts to the elephants?

Putting on clothes is liable to prove a novel experience to the daughter of a British statesman who has quit society to become a professional mannequin.

"You can sigh for the good old times all you want to," says the Cleveland Plain Dealer, "but you'll have to acknowledge that it wasn't until after prohibition that a straight pretzel was invented." Isn't it possible that they were straight before, but we didn't know it?

The time is here when it is up to man to devise some rearrangement which will enable him to dispense with the five absolutely necessary pockets provided by a vest.

Poems That Live.

A WOMAN'S LAST WORD.

Let's contend no more, Love,
Strive nor weep:
All be as before, Love,
Only sleep!

What so wild as words are?
I and thou
In debate, as birds are,
Hawk on bough!

See the creature stalking
While we speak!
Hush and hide the talking
Cheek on cheek!

What so false as truth is
False to thee?
Where the serpent's tooth is
Shun the tree—

Where the apple reddens
Never pry
Lest we lose our Edens
Eve and I.

Be a god and hold me
With a charm!
Be a man and fold me
With thine arm!

Teach me only teach, Love!
As I ought
I will speak thy speech, Love,
Think thy thought—

Meet, if thou require it,
Both demands,
Laying flesh and spirit
In thy hands.

That shall be tomorrow,
Not tonight:
I must bury sorrow
Out of sight:

Must a little weep, Love
Foolish me!
And so fall asleep, Love
Loved by thee.

THE MARCH OF CIVILIZATION.

Men and Mules Alike.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Lots of things we read in the newspapers make us laugh. Many telegraphic dispatches are really funny. Listen to this:

"Softer beds for army mules, as authorized by the war department, will pay for themselves by lopping off a pound of grain a day from the animals' justly famed appetites.

"It was found in experiment on which the war department bases its new forage ration that mules not only eat less when given warm and comfortable bedding, but actually grow fatter.

"Under the new ration each mule will receive eight pounds of grain a day and four pounds of straw for bedding, instead of nine pounds of grain and three and one-third of straw. On field service, the new grain allowance will be ten pounds."

Some wag will ask: Why not supply the mules with feather beds and do away with the need of any grain whatever? With plenty of straw and a little sawdust they should get along very well!

But, all joking aside, there is no doubt that comfortable sleep is just as necessary as an abundance of food. If rest is broken, an addition to the ration will help. On the contrary, if the sleep is truly restful, the body suffers less wear and tear and does not require so much nourishment.

This is true of mules—it is equally true of human beings.

Recently the pump connected with the ice plant in the hotel where I live got out of order. It made a constant humming, singing sound, a vibration which was most disturbing in its vibrating, penetrating, nerve wracking effects.

If you can't sleep, you toss about in the bed. You turn over, pound the pillow, and rail on modern invention. You wear out more muscle cells, nervous energy and real vitality than you would sawing a cord of wood.

I suppose mules suffer if their beds are hard and lumpy. Men do, anyhow.

It is a good thing to change beds occasionally. Try all the beds in the house. Find out if the guest bed is an instrument of torture as I have found many a guest bed to be. Sleep in it yourself at least once a year and see if your hospitality is genuine.

Make your family comfortable in their beds and you can save money on the food bills. This is a new idea, isn't it? Let's think it over!

Editorial Comment.

AN IMPORTANT BUREAU.

A lively discussion is going on in Great Britain just now regarding the proposal to abolish the department of overseas trade as a separate branch of government. The suggestion was made from motives of economy. Those back of the plan want the functions of the department turned over to a bureau with restricted authority and entailing less expenditure of public money.

The project has stirred up a chorus of dissent and protest, mainly on the part of business and industrial associations interested in foreign commerce. They contend that the department as it now exists has become a national necessity, paying its way over and over again in the form of increased foreign trade, on which Britain's welfare greatly depends.

The British department of overseas trade closely resembles the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, which forms part of the department of commerce of the United States. In each case the task consists in gathering useful commercial intelligence in foreign countries, through officials known as trade attaches and commissioners, for the benefit of traders at home. In this country the information is distributed gratis on request; in Britain, a nominal charge is made.

Far from there being any wish to restrict the activities of the American bureau, its work is coming to be regarded as increasingly essential to the growth of America's trade relations with other countries. For this reason, Secretary Hoover has insisted on the importance of adequate congressional appropriations, which would enable him to employ high-grade specialists at the various trade centers of the world. Many of the men now serving as commercial lookouts in foreign lands are experts who could easily double and triple their salaries with private business concerns. Some of them stay on simply because they enjoy working for "Chief" Hoover.

Everything possible ought to be done by congress to help put the bureau on a safe and sound financial basis; also, to permit of its expansion as the need arises.—Detroit Free Press.

HE'LL EARN HIS BRIDE.

Illinois is considering a new marriage license law that will require five days' notice before the ceremony. Wisconsin is interested in that, if only because it will make an end of the Waukegan marriage mart. Wisconsin's own five-day law has been so easily circumvented by couples going to Waukegan that we have never been able to check up on its value.

But when the Chicago Church federation proposes, as a part of the five-day plan, that the prospective bridegroom must go to trial before a sort of extra-legal commission, at which any one may state his or her grievances and complaints, one wonders what Illinois is driving at. A marriage is more or less a confidential affair between two young people who want to go along in life together. They make the decision now with plenty of hurdles before them—what with the high cost of living and all that. But if bridegrooms must also sit in at a semi-official probe, where lives are pulled apart, and they must hear the gratuitous opinions of all the "in-laws" and the "outlaws" sweet cookie - there will be more bachelors in Illinois than ever before. A marriage law should aim at protection, but it should not tack on an element of discouragement.

The Chicago pastors are correct when they say that parents rightfully have an interest in the choices their children make. But that can best be shown in the privacy of the home; if it isn't done successfully there, it can hardly be done at all. The Chicago proposal is a fine example of how we get confused when we set out to remedy a social evil, such as hastily marriage and divorce, because we really don't know how to attack the problem.—Milwaukee Journal.

FARMERS TRAVEL ABROAD.

Five hundred farmers from forty-five states will set sail for Europe in July. They are going abroad to study Old world agricultural conditions and methods; and the thoroughness of their tutelage seems assured through the fact that the pilgrimage is sponsored by the American Farm Bureau federation, with the United States department of agriculture cooperating.

Offhand, it seems paradoxical that a nation which plans an important part in assisting to feed them, should send representatives to investigate agricultural practices in Old world countries. What need is there for further enlightenment when we have the acres, the farm machinery, the shipping facilities, the means for handling exports staggering in their volume?

But certain lines of research suggest profitable possibilities. Fields of the Old world that were worked before the Christian era still bring forth abundantly, rejuvenated year after year by scientific cultivation and rotation of crops. Intensive tilling, made necessary through restricted individual holdings, in which every fractional acre counts, gives a high average productiveness. Waste is minimized. And even though Old world economies may not be applicable in their entirety to the mass production practiced in America, there must be a chance for betterment in this direction. Irrigation and reforestation are important items as they are given application abroad, the latter particularly recommending itself for consideration by a country whose denudation has been ruthless.—Detroit Free Press.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Newspapers some time ago told the story of a San Francisco man who ran over and killed a child with his motor car. Then he and his wife did a surprising thing. They offered their own child to the heart-broken mother. It was their hopeless effort to make restitution, to pay an intangible penalty in a definite way. There are things in life for which no restitution can be made, for which no substitutes can be offered or accepted, acts which no penalty can satisfy or wipe away. There is no substitute for love. The ties of affection can not be spliced with another cord.

Men are all too frequently spoiled for their greatest usefulness by posing, by trying to assume a role that doesn't fit them, and never can be made to fit them. That is the sad part of it—they do not know the pose can never be made to fit, that it will always be a pose and perfectly recognizable as such. More than one man of fine ability and possessed by an earnest desire to make good in a big way finds himself promoted from the ranks. He sets out to be the kind of boss he has read about in the magazines or the kind of boss his boss is. And he produces only a pose. Be yourself.

Don't be a sympathy seeker. If you get the habit of needing sympathy every time things don't go precisely to please you you become a sort of drug addict. You have to have sympathy as a sedative. You depend upon it. Nobody admires a sympathy chaser.

Listen to this story of 2,000 pounds of coal in the earth. At the outset it is estimated that 600 pounds are lost in mining. After the 1,400 pounds which are left reach the surface it takes 126 pounds to get the coal from the mine to the boiler-room. Then 446 pounds slip up the smokestack to powder the housetops and soil your washing in the back yard. Fifty-one pounds are lost in radiation and another fifty-one pound fall into the ash pit. Then comes the biggest single loss of all. Six hundred and fifty pounds are destroyed in converting heat energy into mechanical energy. That leaves seventy-six pounds of coal with which to accomplish something.

Industry is still dealing with fault processes for converting fuel into power. The same thing is the trouble with the human being. Put yourself and your habits under the microscope and see how much of your time is applied to useful activities, and how much frittters up the smokestack of idleness and waste motion.

Views of Those in Public Eye.

SIMEON D. FESS.

Simeon D. Fess was born on a farm in Allen county, Ohio, December 11, 1861. He began his career as a professor of history at Ohio Northern university, later becoming president of Antioch college, Yellow Springs, Ohio. Fess was a member of the sixty-third congress from the Sixth Ohio district and and sixty-fourth to sixty-seventh congresses from the Seventh district. In 1922 he was elected to the United States senate for the term 1923 to 1929. He is the author of a number of books on history and government.

The senator says there is nothing in the third-term talk. This is the way he puts it:

"The force of precedent, the main argument of the anti-third-termer, is growing less and less. If no man in 138 years has been elected president a third term, that in itself is not conclusive evidence that no one should ever be so elected. Especially, it would not prevent a second elective term, even though it did extend the tenure beyond eight years.

"The determinant will be, not what has been the precedent, but rather, what is best for the solid and permanent interests of our country. The best-fitted man to serve the nation will hardly be denied the people's right to his services merely because he has already served one term and a fraction of another.

"There is no longer any fear that foreign countries can or will dictate life tenure of some favorite. Long ago the fear of the man on horseback has passed. Even the objection that through the appointive power an executive can continue himself in perpetuity has no force in view of the growth of reform in the civil service. The obvious dangers of popular government in our national beginnings, when monarchy was the common form of government all over the world, do not appear today.

"Hereditary government sustained by a standing army does not apply to America."

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, June 2 — The "third degree" which takes on the tortures of the Inquisition is largely fiction. There are blustering police officials. And a few are cruel. But as a general rule a murderer's secret is pried out through the soft silence of quiet questioning.

The suspect in a serious crime is denied only one thing and that is sleep during a "third degree." This has been found the most workable way of all to break down stubborn resistance. Almost invariably a prisoner on the verge of confession thirsts for water. His lips grow parched.

Instead of being cuffed and kicked around he is more often than not gently coaxed. Police have long since discovered that a confession made under ruthless pressure does not hold water in court. And it wins the jury's sympathy toward the prisoner.

Recently a New York criminal was put in a room with a single questioner. The only noise was the ticking of a gaunt clock. When his lids would begin to droop, his questioner would arouse him with some question as to the crime.

After thirteen hours, he shouted "Stop that damn clock, I did it." There have been instances where the playing of some soothing tune in an adjoining room would touch a responsive chord and a sleepiessly worn prisoner would drop babbling to his knees.

Women as a rule hold out longer than men. The hardened adopt a sneering attitude. When they feel themselves cornered they usually exercise the feminine prerogative to weep. Most confessions are secured after tears.

There is the husband of a famous woman who will never appear with her in public. He feels such a violent inferiority complex that it comes ill.

Women are far more generous in the matter of basking in the reflection of a husband's fame. A notable exception is Charles Norris who for years was known as the husband of Kathleen Norris and the brother of the equally distinguished Frank Norris. Charles Norris did not sulk. He stepped out and became famous himself.

It has been my observation that really celebrated men tire of adulation after a time. When the novelty wears off they are quite at home at public gatherings. Their public appearances appear limited to a small circle.

Dinner Stories.

A good Scottish minister, on his way to the kirk, met a little tousle-haired boy who carried a fishing-rod and line, on the end of which was a bent pin.

"Dinna ye ken," he said to the lad, "that this is the day of rest?"

"Aye," said the lad, "but I'm no' oot for fish."

Did you ever get up in a terrible hurry in the morning, rush out without breakfast or even a shave, and then find the clock was slow and you had a quarter of an hour to catch your train? No? Well, Johnson did one morning.

Instead of grumbling, however, he turned into a barber's shop.

"Shave, please!" he cried, "and quick!"

"Nice day for the big race, sir," said the barber leisurely, but Johnson cut him short.

"Get a jerk into it, man!" he said. "I've to catch the nine fifteen."

But the barber wasn't to be rushed. He went on slowly lathering, till John on lost control left him.

"He'd that brush still, man?" he cried.

The barber looked at him perplexedly.

"Hold it still!" he repeated, "and I'll wash my head!"

The teacher, wishing to arouse the interest of her Sunday-school class, asked the pupils the names of their favorite hymns.

All the pupils bent their heads over pencil and paper for a few minutes, and then handed in their slips—all except one.

Mary, with downcast eyes and flaming cheeks, handed the teacher a slip of paper bearing the words: "Willie Smith."

GIRLS AND ANIMALS CIRCUS FEATURES

Girls and animals—animals and girls—those two predominating features of the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus have caused newspaper critics to use countless words in describing the 1927 performance. In all the big cities where Hagenbeck-Wallace has appeared this year, the exhibitions have been highly praised and capacity business has been the rule since the opening stand early in April.

Hagenbeck-Wallace comes here for two performances, afternoon and night, on Monday, June 13, and the appearance in this city of this noted circus is creating unusual interest among the amusement lovers. Many unusual features will be offered in the steel arenas and in the various rings, while the hippodrome track will be the scene of several horse displays, second to none.

Otto Davenport and his Family of Riders, fresh from triumphs on big time vaudeville, and the Ward Kendall Troupe of Flyers, direct from Europe, are two noted attractions. Clyde Beatty, Bob McClusson and Capt. Bernard will subjugate the jungle brutes in several sensational numbers. Two gigantic spectacles will be offered, "The Golden" as the opening, and "Blazing Glory" bringing the program to a close.

Graduates from Schools In County Enter Apprentice Classes at Shovel Plant

Corresponding Number of Youths Graduate from Training School of Local Industry; Many Courses Offered Those Who Wish To Specialize

A number of graduates from various Marion County schools have entered the apprentice classes at the Marion Steam Shovel to take a training course in the subject in which they are most interested, a check-up revealed today.

A corresponding number of youths have graduated from the apprentice classes during the last few weeks and have received diplomas for their work.

Apprentice classes and training are conducted for draftsmen, electricians, machinists, molders, pattern makers, sales engineers, service engineers, tool makers, carpenters, welders, shovel operators, business administration, research engineering, and other professions.

The success of an apprentice in the shop depends mainly on three characteristics, namely, observation, theory and practice. An apprentice may work either in the shops or office, depending on the work which he has chosen.

Grade cards are given at the end of each month and for each period of five months that an apprentice or co-operative apprentice averages 85 per cent or better in his monthly grade record, he will be given a credit of 224 hours, thereby enabling a student to obtain an advance in rate one month earlier in his work period.

Any student maintaining the above average grades throughout his course can complete his four-year course in three years and four months. Many of the apprentices who graduated this year completed the course in that time.

Maintains Record

The Personnel and Training Department maintains a complete record of class and shop work for each student as reported monthly by the apprentice school instructors and shop foremen, which can be consulted at any time by the apprentice, foremen and parents.

All apprentices, special students, and the like are graded at the end of each month on the following characteristics: Ability to learn, judgment, knowledge, initiative, conduct, accuracy, application, speed, reliability, interest in work and self-reliance.

Young men in order to qualify for entrance into the high school co-operative apprenticeship must have completed the second year of the regular four-year high school course. Under the co-operative method the student alternates one week in the factory and one in school, graduating as if he has remained on the regular school course. At the end of this course the student either enters college or continues his work in the apprentice school of the company.

The training system of the shovel was founded in 1921 to develop an adequate supply of trained and skilled labor, capable of qualifying, through experience, for technical and managerial positions in its organization. For this work, the company maintains a staff of instructors to supervise the training courses.

The apprentice classes will be closed from July 27 to Aug. 29, during the hot summer weeks.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

When Baby Complains.

There are many ways a baby has of expressing any pain or irregularity or digression from its normal condition of health and happiness. A short sharp cry, a prolonged irritated cry, Restlessness, a constant turning of the head or of the whole body, fretful. In these and other ways a baby tells you there is something wrong. Most mothers know that a disordered stomach, or bowels that do not act naturally are the cause of most of baby's sufferings. A call for the doctor is the first thought, but in the event of any delay there should be ready at hand a safe remedy such as Fletcher's Castoria.

Castoria has been used for baby's ailments for over 30 years and has merited the good will of the family physician in a measure not equaled by any other baby's medicine because of its harmlessness and the good results achieved.

And remember this: Castoria is essentially a baby's remedy and not a cure-all for every member of the family. What might help you is too often dangerous when given to a babe.

To avoid imitations, always look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher Proven directions on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

head went sidewise and his sword came out and up. It missed Larry by a scant inch or to, and his skin seemed to shrink about his abdomen over the place where the sword would have entered had he not seen the stroke coming, and leaped out of reach.

The other cursed savagely and started to rise to renew the attack, but whereas he knew this superlative trick of sword-play, and knew it well, he evidently did not know that the aftermath if one is unsuccessful in delivering the stroke, is fatal. He was rising, awkward and unguarded and Larry's second leap carried him forward, in close, and his sword fell in a gleaming, flashing arc, its keen edge slithering fairly across the side of the man's neck. The almost decapitated body crumpled swiftly and sprawled in the beaten grass.

Breathing rapidly, but with full, even measures of air, Larry turned and swept the moon lit circle with a quick, piercing glance; but no other attackers seemed near; the place was as silent as a marabout's tomb. Evidently, these two had been relied upon to finish the wizard and his student companion.

Now Larry dropped swiftly beside Allal Abdi, laying his sword beside him on the grass. The youth was unconscious, his slim, beautiful face pallid and wan. With a quick motion Larry turew back the youth's burnouse, so that he could get at the wound in his left shoulder, and when he had stripped the protecting folds of cloths away from the firm, well rounded breast of his companion he dropped it quickly back across the gleaming, blood-stained skin, and a startled exclamation escaped his lips.

For Allal Abdi was a girl!

Dumbly he allowed this fact to sink into his racing, nerve-wracked brain, then sensed that all along he had subconsciously suspected this very thing. Now was explained that slender, effeminate figure, that beautiful girlish face, that graceful, ethereal charm that surrounded the other. Now, too, was explained that intangible feeling that had always swept his whole being whenever his companion's eyes had met his own fairly. And, he knew, there was now explained also the reason for that over-whelming, all pervading love he had felt the heardless boy.

He had thought it a love comparable only to that which he had felt for Allal Abdi's father, but knew now that it was different, that it was more profound and of a greater quality. Quick to analyze his own feelings under all circumstances, he admitted quite frankly to himself that his whole being, his whole spirit had succumbed to the charm of this dainty figure that lay prone and helpless before him on the grass; without quibbling or arguing the reason, he admitted that he loved this girl, this slender, romantic figure in a man's burnouse, who had been his companion of days only but who seemed to have been his companion always. Now he knew why, when he had changed his apparel back in that little, hidden room in Duk el-Abda, the youth had fled, not to return until he was again clothed; too, he now knew why, at night, Allal Abdi had invariably chosen a sleeping spot considerably removed from his own. Other little oddities that he had noted in his companion also were understandable now.

Through his racing brain another scene swept: last night when, facing each other across the fire he and Allal had been discussing their friendship and their love, and scared in his thought indelibly was that last, soft expression of the girl's:

"I think I do love you."

He groaned suddenly in agony of spirit. This child, this slim, beautiful girl, might be dead. It was no time to waste in retrospect, but a time for action. On the thought he bent swiftly and once more drew back the burnouse, exposing the full, firmly moulded breast across which a jagged, livid gash, not deep, but painful and ugly looking, had been scored by the sword thrust.

From beneath his own burnouse he drew a compact medicine kit, a flat, oval kit that held all he thought he might have need of before he came to Islam. In it was iodine, cotton, stimulants. With the iodine he antiseptized the girl's wound, with the cotton he dried it, then with adhesive tape he strapped across the gash a soft pad of the cotton making sure it would last until such time as it would be convenient to apply a new dressing.

This done he drew the burnouse back across the gleaming chest, then turned his attention to summoning the girl back to life. Looking at her face he saw that her eyes were already open and fixed on him saw, too, that a vivid blush had stained her face from chin to temple. Frankly she met his eyes and there was that in their depths which caused his heart to pound with a rushing surge of energy that was out of all reason.

"You are better, Allal? Are you in much pain?"

She did not answer his question. Rather, with her bell like voice soft, she sounded a query of her own.

"You know?"

"That you are a woman, Allal?" He dropped his head swiftly, hiding his eyes and the light he knew must have sprung to life in them. "Yes, child, I know."

"And you are not angry with me? You will not forsake our mission because of it?"

He considered swiftly, it added to the weight of his responsibility that there was no youth but a dainty girl; it made the outlook more forbidding, success less probable. Then, in a flaming flash, came another thought—he had now a motive for carrying on! Before, urged only by his ruth for man love for Ben Mansour, he had struggled ahead because he had passed his word, now, here was a glorious creature, a wonderful dream girl whose destiny led to a Moorish tribal throne—and he loved her!

What greater object could he wish for in life than to struggle on, to fight for her, to battle through against all odds and place her where by every right of her blood heritage blood of the Berber heritage she belonged! What could be more wonderful than this slim, ethereal being at his side to inspire him, to win through despite all obstacles that Islam might throw before him, to the goal that lay ahead! To battle onward, to invade the sanctity of the Temple to retrieve the Sacred Eye and set this girl at the head of the Seven Tribes of the Berbers.

Something of his thoughts may have been reflected in his eyes, for the girl regarded him with hope that amounted seemingly, to certainty, nor was she surprised when her gaze came back and met hers. He felt that electric tingle that always swept him when their eyes met. He said, softly:

"I am not angry with you, Little White Flower. I shall not turn back. Together we shall go on to the end, you and I, and if the end is sweet, it will be because I have striven to make it so. If the end is darkness and the dregs bitter then it is as Allah wills."

She raised a slender, bronzed hand and dropped it gently on his.

"Truly, it is not hard to understand why my father loved you."

"And you?" he asked, unsteadily, gazing hungrily into her luminous eyes, liquid pools of purple delight in the slanting moon rays.

She flushed vividly and looked away, but her voice sounded bravely.

"And did I not answer for you once a similar question?"

With a little, low cry he swept her tenderly into his arms, careful lest he hurt her shoulder, chary with his passion lest he awaken the throbs he knew must be making her head a place of infernal pain.

IN AMAZING ENTENTE

KATIE looked at me earnestly as she finished telling me about the red bearded man's extraordinary behavior. "Vot you tink he mean by dot?" she asked. "I vish I understood dot last name of dot bird he called Al dot he vos raving about."

"I can tell you that, Katie," I said quietly, handing myself a mental medal for being able to repress the twitching of my lips. "The Mohammedans pray to Allah and the man no doubt was saying 'Praise Allah Allah be praised,' as he knocked his head against the ground."

My little maid looked at me shrewdly. "Can dose heine vorse please, I can't vet tongue for whole vord- but can dey say dot in Englash?"

I saw her point.

"That proves the man can speak English, doesn't it?" I asked.

"You bet your boots," Katie rejoined. "But you should see Meester Graham ven he saw heem. He lean against tree und he laugh und he laugh, und he shake. But oder man didn't laugh, shoost keep on saying dot ofer and ofer und knocking hees head, until finally Meester Graham got sop, take heem by arm und jerk heem to hees feet and say:

"'Oh, cut it out. Don't be a dam fool shoost cause you expert at dot beesness.' But man he shake hees head und he say someting in low tone dot make Meester Graham laugh again, but afterwards he says: 'Al right, have eet your own vay. You always like mule anyvay. Go on now, gif me low, down on all dees.'"

"Are you sure he said 'low down, Katie?" I asked, curious to know whether Katie was interpreting the conversation in her own slangy style of which she is very proud, or whether Dicky really used the expression. If he did employ the words, they were proof that the red bearded man understood American slang.

"Sure ting." Katie drew herself up offendedly. "I no monkey mit dees I tell vot eferthing shoos like it said."

"I am sure you do," I assured her quickly. "Go on with your story."

"Vell,' she went on, mollified "after dot dey talk und dey talk, but dey speak in sooch low tones I couldn't make sense. But vun ting I know. Dey always talked English. I could tell dot, all right.

"Den like a dog I suppose 'All right, I get you. Meester Dicky. I'll see you again next week. But be careful.'"

"Den" Katie would drop her narrative, "dot ofer mans he go back toward shack, und Meester Graham walk down hill again toward horse. But efery leetle bit he stop und shoke coze und laugh so hard. Vot you tink vot all means?"

"I haven't the slightest idea, Katie," I said truthfully. "Of course, Mr. Graham must have known the man somewhere, probably over a map the seas, and recognized him in spite of his disguise. And you know that when anything strikes Mr. Graham as funny, he never does stop laughing over it. One thing he has told me that we don't need to worry about the men, that they are not dangerous, so I think the best thing for us to do is to forget all about this, and not worry about the men any more."

Old Folks Say Doctor Caldwell is Right

When a man is on the 83rd year of his life, there are certain things he has learned that only time can teach him. The basis of treating sickness has not changed since I left Medical College in 1875, nor since I placed on the market the laxative prescription I had used in my practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of my Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of Egyptian Senna and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin.

Now medicines are constantly brought out for constipation that contain calomel (which is mercury), salts of various kinds, phenolphthalein (which is acid and coal tar), and minerals. These are all drastic purges, many of them dangerous, and the medical profession is warning the public against them. Certain coal tar products which are offered to people so much nowadays, irritate and poison the tissue of the stomach, intestine and bowel. Most salts thin the blood and carry off the vital body fluids, making you aenemic and rheumatic.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs which are usually disguised as candy or chewing gum?

Dr. W. B. Caldwell M.D. AT AGE 83

My remedy, too, costs less than most others; only about a cent a dose. A bottle of it will last a family several months, and all can use it. It is good for the baby because pleasant to the taste, gentle in action, and free from narcotics. In the proper dose, given in the directions, it is equally effective at all ages. Elderly people will find it especially ideal. All druggists have the generous bottles.—Adv.

This record stands as one of the highest on the New York Central and has contributed to the splendid record in safety work held by the Ohio Central Lines.

In charge of E. R. Tompkins, car foreman, the shop employs regularly 150 men, who, for the last year, produced 243,173 man-hours of labor. The safety committee has been a live one through this period and is entitled to unlimited credit.

"The record made is one that is seldom achieved in the rolling stock department at any point and is a striking example of what really can be done when a shop personnel is solidly lined up behind an energetic committee," the article in the magazine states.

Members of the committee are E. R. Tompkins, chairman and car foreman; G. L. Ainsley, repair track foreman; Ethel White, stenographer; C. C. McMillen, storekeeper; Mabel Lhamon, clerk; C. M. Sherman, gang leader; H. Hoselton, coach painter; M. G. Lowmiller, coach foreman; L. Warner, A. R. A. checker; D. Dehart, piecework clerk; F. I. Burbacher, chief clerk; D. Smith, gang leader; and L. TAFTS GIVE MILLION, HOME, ART COLLECTION

Cincinnati Institute Must Raise $2,500,000 To Get Magnificent Gift

Cincinnati, June 2—Incorporators of the Cincinnati Institute of Fine Arts today were busy with plans for raising an endowment fund of $2,500,000 by the end of next year, this being a contingency upon which a gift of $1,000,000 cash, their home here, and their priceless art collection, have been given to the institute by Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Taft.

Under the terms of the gift, the income of the endowment fund is to be used for support of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra. The Taft home and art collection, valued at several millions, are to be transferred at the death of the donors. The incorporators of the institute include some of Cincinnati's most prominent citizens.

Charles P. Taft is publisher of the Cincinnati Times-Star and a brother of Chief Justice William Howard Taft.

Congressman Man Links With His Pay

Clerk William Tyler Page of House of Representatives 46 Years

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Clerk William Tyler Page of the house of representatives has worked, in one capacity or another, for the lower branch of congress for 46 years.

He got his first appointment, as a page in the house, from Clerk Edward McPherson, when William Tyler Page was only 13.

Not a senator or representative can recall personal experiences on Capitol Hill dating back as far as Clerk Page. A few can look into the past between three and four decades but Page can recall incidents which happened from 40 years to half a century ago.

It would be a calamity to every member of the house of representatives elect if, right now for example, the clerk were to resign, which, fortunately, it's safe to say he won't do, or if, which heaven forbid, he were to die.

He's the only official who can put members-elect on the payroll until congress convenes.

TO illustrate, take the case of a congressman who was elected in 1926, to sit in the 70th congress.

His term began March 4 last, when the 69th congress adjourned. He's entitled to his salary from that date, but he can't be sworn in until next December, for congress isn't in session to accept his credentials until then—except, of course, in the event of an extra call.

But gets his pay envelope in the meantime solely by virtue of Clerk Page's certificate that he's entitled to it.

Otherwise he'd have to stick it out for the better part of a year at his own expense. Oh, yes, he'll be reimbursed later, when congress finally did meet, but it would be a pretty long wait.

ONCE on a time, President Tyler's administration's time, a clerk did die between sessions, but there was a chief clerk under him then, who was authorized to act in his absence, or in the event of his temporary, disability or death.

Since then the chief clerk's job has been abolished.

Today just one life stands between a congressman and no monthly pay check.

For the obvious and important reason that he holds the purse strings he has to be handy in Washington. He's at his desk as regularly now as in term time.

He can get along very well without congress, but congress in Washington or at home, can't do for a single month without him.

PAGE ought to write his memoirs. It would be a dandy book, for he not only has the raw material stored away in his memory but he can write.

He's author of a Congressional Handbook, which all congressmen are familiar with and he's author likewise of the American's Creed, which the whole country knows.

Occasionally he promises to write his recollections, too, but he probably won't do it. He'll postpone it and postpone it and the chances are it never will be written at all.

Page does find time to make a political forecast in advance of every election and has the reputation of being the best prophet in the country, in his line. It's a sad thing for a candidate to have Page predict his defeat, for when Page predicts it, defeated is what that candidate almost invariably is.

Knowing what not to do is fact.

Let us show you the new Blabon patterns in our stock and estimate for you just how much it will cost to lay a Blabon floor in any or all of your rooms.

How About Your Window Shades
Do they really match up to the rest of your home? Or are they faded, cracked, soiled and discolored?

Or perhaps for that new home you will need new shades.
In either case come for the new ones you need and see the

RAILROAD MEN CONFER WITH MAYOR CLARK

Plans for Placing Safety Devices at Crossings Are Outlined

Upper Sandusky, June 2—J. L. Gressitt, division engineer of the Pennsylvania Lines and T. Bazler, a member of the corps who appeared before the council several weeks ago were in this city yesterday conferring with Mayor S. N. Clark regarding the proposition for flash signals at the Hazel st. crossing and regarding the accident at the Myers st. crossing December 31st when a train hit an automobile which had stalled on the tracks.

Several disastrous accidents at both crossings have made the council realize the importance of quick action and the officials of the railroad are equally desirous of giving protection.

In explanation of their proposal Bazler wished to make it clear that he had not gone sufficiently in detail when he appeared before the council in regard to plans. These provided for one tower man to handle the three sets of gates, Main, Seventh and Eighth sts. In making the change the company would place automatic ringing devices which would raise and lower the gates without physical effort on the part of the watchman. He could give his entire time to manipulating the gates. Two indicators would be installed in the tower to notify of the approach of a train.

Flash signals will be installed at the Hazel st. crossing. Both representatives were of the opinion that where tried out it has been shown that the flash signals are safer and more adequate protection than the gates as it will throw on warning up the streets in both directions a distance of 1,000 feet allowing the driver full time to stop.

At the request of Mayor Clark the two representatives agreed to appear before the council next Monday night at which time they will present their plan in full. Citizens are earnestly asked to attend this meeting and express their wishes.

Considerable agitation had arisen among citizens over the plan to leave three street crossings to the management of one watchman but it was pointed out yesterday that traffic is now being operated from the Seventh st. tower and Main also for eight hours of the twenty four.

Salem Township Residents To Discuss Proposition at Meeting Friday

Upper Sandusky, June 2—Discussion of a new movement to secure electrical current in the section of Wyandot County lying northeast of Upper Sandusky will be considered at a called meeting of residents of Salem Township Friday night.

Definite thought of this was crystallized when an association known as the Fostoria Mutual Electric Co. solicited farmers and electricity users in this territory to become subscribers of the mutual organization to furnish electrical power. The territory as now being considered would extend at least to the County Home on the north and to the Salem Centralized School and beyond on the east.

The company promises to hook up with the Ohio Power Co. at Upper Sandusky going out the Lincoln Hwy. way with one branch following the Carey road to the home and another past the Salem school.

Reports are that the plans receiving favorable attention. W. C. Frank representing the Salem board of education and County Commissioner C. G. Murray have been in Fostoria this week making an investigation and will report at the meeting Friday night.

According to the Salem board of education the lighting plant of the school, installed several years ago is quite an entire set of new storage batteries and it has been pointed out that a reliable source of electrical power can be secured it will be more economical.

While R. C. [illegible] of Upper Sandusky has been in the air some time this is the first to take on a more definite form.

She asks for a decree with custody of the youngest child and asks that the defendant be compelled to care for the other two.

COMPLETING PLANS FOR MAGICIANS' CONVENTION

Master Artists To Appear on Program in Huge Tent Theater

Kenton, June 2—Final plans are being completed this week for the second annual convention of the International Brotherhood of Magicians which is to be held in Kenton June 8, 9 and 10.

More than 500 magicians, numbering some of the greatest past masters of the black art and representing more than 50 per cent of the Brotherhood's membership heading into every quarter of the globe, are expected to attend and participate in the great three day convocation.

Convention headquarters will be set up in the Chamber of Commerce rooms at the St. Nicholas hotel and there delegates upon their arrival in the city, will register and receive their identification badge and rooming quarters. Committees from the Chamber will direct this work.

W. W. Durbin, Kenton manufacturer and brotherhood president stated today that hundreds of members have already written in for reservations for the gathering. These names are being listed and assigned rooming quarters in hotels and private residences.

Because of the world wide news importance of the convention several time news writers have notified Mr. Durbin that they will have men on hand to take news of the meeting. A number of the larger news syndicates have also expected to send representatives to cover the session.

Another feature for the entertainment of the Brotherhood members and the general public make up the three day program. One of the outstanding features will be the public performances to be presented each of the three nights beneath a huge tent with a seating capacity for 2,000 persons. Here some of the greatest magicians upon whom the world has proclaimed will perform.

Wesley M. E. Wallops Epworth No. 1; Calvary Wins

Epworth Blows Sky High In Third Inning; Central Christians Win By Forfeit

St. Mary's Defeats Presbyterians, 6-3; Calvary No. 1 Remains in Tie with Wesley for First Place by Trimming Forest Lawn, 4-3

WESLEY M. E. and Calvary No. 1 still were riding in front today in the first Sunday School league pennant race as the result of their fourth respective victories last night.

Epworth No. 1, tied for the lead until last night, was unable to keep up the pace set by the other leaders and went up in the air when it stacked up against Wesley M. E. in what might ultimately decide the championship of the loop.

Wesley slammed the ball far and wide while Epworth made errors galore, argued among themselves, and did everything but play ball. When the massacre was over, Epworth was trampled in the dust under Wesley's powerful attack with 12 runs stacked up against its miserable lone tally.

It was one of the poorest played games witnessed on a recreational ball diamond in Marion this season, the Epworth players performing like a group of kindergarten boys. Burson left the mound in the sixth inning, after being pounded all over the lot and Miller took his turn in the box. The effect was the same. Wesley continued its slugging and Epworth continued its errors.

Total Third

The score was tied at one all until the last of the third frame when the Wesley players went around the batting list and started over again. The side would have been retired before any of the runs were scored had Lowe, in right field, held the ball once in a great while. He made two of the prettiest, neatest errors ever seen on any field. At least two men scored on each blunder.

But he wasn't alone in his blundering. Roseberry at first base wandered about like a lost sheep during most of the game and Raub at third didn't look so good. Fans were particularly impressed by the way in which several of the Epworth players were able to tell their teammates what to do and when to do it. The boys who supplied the information invariably failed to "practice what they preached" when a chance came their way.

In other words, if Epworth No. 1 plays two or three more games like that of last night, the rest of the teams should have nothing to fear from John Clark's boys.

Calvary Wins

Calvary staged a great comeback in its game with Forest Lawn and scored two runs in the seventh frame to win the contest.

Forest started with a rush, successive hits by Snyder, Lattimore and Price, coupled with an error, netting three runs in the last half of the first. The only other hit credited to the losers came in the third frame.

The Calvary crew scored one in the third, another in the fifth, and the two winning runs in the last inning. The winning tallies were counted when Gibson walked, went to third on W. Baldauf's two-sacker, and crossed the plate on a single by A. Baldauf. W. Baldauf followed him home on the same hit.

Messenger and Gruber did the pitching for the winners while Winters was on the mound for Forest Lawn.

St. Mary's Wins

St. Mary's won its second game of the season when it romped over the slipping Presbyterians, 6 to 3. Verberg pitched for Presbyterians and F. Sherbe was in the box for the winners.

Central Christians were defeated, 4 to 3, by Epworth Seniors but won the game by forfeit when "Bill" Fetter was declared ineligible by the commission.

Epworth Seniors have won nine and lost four since the action of the commission in declaring Fetter ineligible. The tie game played between the two Epworth teams at the first of the season goes to Epworth No. 1.

TRINITY BAPTISTS DEFEAT EPWORTH NO. 2

Stage Rally in Seventh Inning to Overcome Lead Stacked Up By Opponents

Baptists Remain in Tie with Lutherans for First Place in Second Sunday School League; Lee-st Presbyterians Defeat Presbyterian No. 2

TRINITY Baptists kept in step with the pace-setting Lutherans in the second Sunday School League last night by trimming Epworth No. 2, 4 to 3, in the last inning of one of the most exciting contests of the season.

With the score standing 3 to 0 against them, the Baptists came to bat in the first of the seventh with a do or die spirit—and didn't die. In fact, they did quite a few things. And when the dust cleared away the scoreboard showed them on top of a 4 to 3 count.

Use Pinch-Hitters

Making every effort to regain the lead, the Epworth crew used three pinch-hitters in the last of the seventh, but the task was useless. Epworth No. 2 lost another game and Trinity won another. Epworth sank lower into the dungeon and the Baptists are sitting on top of the world.

The Lutherans didn't play last night. They had already played four games and won all of them.

The Lee-st Presbyterians continued their rampage and are in full possession of second place as the result of their second victory this week. The First Presbyterians were the victims, taking the lower end of a 12 to 3 count.

Calvary Again Loses

Calvary No. 2 lost its third game of the season when the United Brethren stepped into action to win, 7 to 1. The winner's big inning was the fifth when five men crossed the plate. Zespan pitched for the Brethren and Kimmel was on the mound for the losers.

One box score was turned in:

LUTZO-DUNDEE BOUT SCHEDULED FOR FRIDAY

New York, June 2—Pete Lutzo, welterweight champion, and Joe Dundee of Baltimore have completed training for their 15-round bout here tomorrow night. They will arrive here tonight and weigh in tomorrow.

It is believed that making the 147 pound weight limit will prove to be a steep on the champion and that as a result Dundee will be a slight favorite.

TEX WILL ATTEMPT TO FORCE PAOLINO MATCH

New York, June 2—Tex Rickard has another ace up his sleeve in his attempt to forge Paulino Uzcudin, Spanish heavyweight, to fight under his management at the Yankee Stadium here on June 22. He will ask the New York Boxing commission to approve a match between the Spaniard and Jimmy Maloney, Boston heavyweight, on that date, basing his claim on an exclusive contract which he holds calling for Paulino's services.

YALE ELECTS

New Haven, Conn., June 2—W. M. Reed of Pittsburgh, has been elected captain of the Yale tennis team and Charles E. Hayward, West Town, Pa., assistant manager.

Alleged "Weak" Eastern Teams May Pull Surprise

NEW YORK, June 2— The alleged weak teams of the East have served notice that they intend to be nobody's door mat in the second group of intersectional series, starting today. The Brooklyn Robins, with eight victories in their last nine starts, and the lowly Phillies, who toppled the Pirates yesterday, may prove to be far from soft pickings for the western clubs in the National League. In the American League the Red Sox believe it or not, actually have won two games in the same series.

The Robins' hits have been bunched like bananas of late and their pitching would pass any board of censorship. They swept the series by trimming Boston yesterday, 6 to 2. Jumbo Elliot, the heavyweight phenom from the Pacific Coast, allowed only four hits in contributing his third pitching masterpiece of the season and Babe Herman hit his eighth home run.

Lee Meadows of the Pirates, who had won seven games and lost none, was shelled off the mound by the Phils who made seven runs in the eighth and won 7 to 4. Leach of the Phils walloped a homer with two on while Wright of the Bucs collected four hingles.

Mandell Held When Steve Adams Dies During Fight

Kansas City, Kans., June 2—Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion of the world, was being held here today pending the inquest into the death of Steve Adams, Chicago lightweight, who died in Memorial Hall arena here last night during a fight with Mandell.

Adams died several minutes after Mandell had sent a hard left to the solar plexus at the opening of the second round. Adams staggered into a clinch. They were separated and were sparring lightly when suddenly Adams collapsed, falling on the ropes.

Dr. L. D. Mable, physician for the American Legion under whose auspices the fight was being staged, rushed to the ring. Several other physicians, spectators at the fight, assisted Dr. Mable. A pulmotor was brought into play, but all aid proved futile.

Dr. J. W. Hayward, county coroner, performed an autopsy and reported Adams' neck was broken. The second and third cervicle vertebrae were dislocated and pressing against the spinal cord, he said.

Mandell Blows Clean

A. J. Eagle, referee, known professionally as Walter Bates, declared that all of Mandell's blows had been clean.

Mandell ripped into Adams in the first round and plainly displayed a superior brand of aggressiveness. Adams fought back, however, and held up his part of the battle to the end of the round.

At the opening of the second round, Mandell again rushed into Adams, punching as he went. When Mandell sunk the solar plexus blow into Adams, Adams staggered a little but went into a clinch and the fighters exchanged light blows in a corner of the ring.

About 20 seconds later, however, Adams, free of his opponent, whirled and sank across the ropes.

In Condition

Adams ad been examined by Dr. Mable yesterday afternoon, and was pronounced in perfect physical condition. He was 24 years old. He weighed in at 136 pounds. Mandell weighed in at 138 pounds.

Mandell sometimes called the "Sheik of Fistiana" is known as more of a boxer than a heavy puncher. His record shows he won more fights by decisions than knockouts. He won the title July 3, last year, by outpointing Rocky Kansas in Chicago.

LEIGH WADE PLANS HOP ROUND WORLD IN 15 DAYS

Famous Flier Will Hop Off from New York Before First of August

New York, June 2—Lieut. Leigh Wade, one of America's famous fliers, plans a 'round-the-world flight in 15 days, he announced in an interview today. He plans to hop off from New York before Aug. 1, taking the western route.

Lieutenant Wade was one of the United States Army fliers who circled the globe in 1924 in 174 days.

Now he plans to make the trip in less than one-tenth of that time, taking two men with him at the start, and picking up another at Tokio. He would use a twin or triple-motored plane, of huge span, capable of lifting 17,000 pounds useful load. He has had the flight under consideration for more than a year.

"My purpose is to demonstrate the practical usefulness of the airplane for commercial purposes," he said.

charge of receiving and concealing stolen property.

Longfellow on Stand

It was alleged that Longfellow's part in the robbery operations consisted chiefly of disposing of the stolen goods. Activities of the gang are said to have started about a year ago.

Longfellow went on the witness stand and made a general denial of the charges. Lester Bird and Shaffer, however, testified that he had taken the stolen property to a farm near Mt. Victory and disposed of it.

The indictment referred specifically to the theft of seven sheep from the James B. Guthery on Feb. 17.

The verdict against Longfellow was returned at 5:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon after the jury had deliberated two hours and 15 minutes.

Sentences Soon

Longfellow's wife and five children were present during the trial.

Francis Durbin of Linn was attorney for the accused.

Motions for new trials have been filed for Longfellow and Henry.

Indictments returned against the eight men charged them with grand larceny and receiving and concealing stolen property.

Sentences will be decreed by Judge Stegell within the next few days.

of Aunt March, the worldly, eccentric aunt of the three women, charmingly played by Lucille Foreman, and another devotee of Aunt March, who was equally fine in his more subdued role.

Interest in the play centers on Jo, the most loving of the three little girls, who, when her mother is in need sells her hair, her one beauty and later, when she, who has been in poverty all of her life, finds a beautiful home by her wealth and makes her family comfortable, and then, with characteristic love of helping others turns the home into an orphanage.

Moments of intense emotion, both comedy and drama, so well portrayed by the efficient cast, were heartily applauded by an appreciative audience.

Praise for Director

The characters, each in well-fitted role or her role, and were attired in old-fashioned furniture, loaned by Miss Clara Campbell, and the entire stage with realistic work covered with showed the singular ability of Miss Lucile Foreman, who has for the last several years directed such successful high school plays as "The Class School" and "Merton of the Movies." This years play, of a totally different character, revealed the most versatile of the many fine ones presented in the past.

The play was directed by [illegible] and covered several years in the lives of the "little women."

The first three acts were in the March living room in Concord, Mass., in 1868, carried out in [illegible] with old fashioned furniture and [illegible]. The garden at Plumfield, the home to which Jo fits before the opening of the fourth act, included rose arches and grass mats and trellis work, steps and platform, constructed by members of Harding High school as well as the paper lanterns and ribbon-trimmed flowers made by girls of the high school domestic science department, lent beauty to the scene.

Musical Score Pretty

Assisting Miss Foreman were Miss Pearella Smith, high school instructor, as wardrobe mistress; E. H. Shade, faculty business manager, Charles Street, student business manager; Dale Brenner, assistant student business manager; Lyle Holverstott, property manager; Robert Dixon, assistant property manager; Paul Reller, advertising manager, and Darrel De Long, assistant advertising manager.

Music for the play, presented through special arrangement with Samuel French of New York, as well as a short prelude of beautiful numbers, was furnished by the Harding High School orchestra, under the direction of Howard M. Temple, supervisor of music in the city schools. The numbers selected were of a soft, melodious, old-fashioned variety, suitable to the character of the play.

The mighty energizing power of Lifetone Tablets shows so quickly that often one package is all that is needed to turn rundown nerve shattered men and women who lack confidence and ambition into strong, vigorous people.

Men who possess buoyant vitality never lose their nerve in emergencies, but on the other hand are always full of confidence and the joy of living.

Start to get rid of nervousness and increase your vitality today; take two Lifetone Tablets after each meal and two at bedtime for two weeks.

Then if you feel that any claim made in this special notice is untrue—if your nerves are not much steadier than before, if you do not feel more ambitious, more vigorous and keen-minded, Bradley's Drug Store or the pharmacist who dispensed the tablets to you will gladly hand you back just what you paid for them. 72 tablets for $1.00.—Adv.

Getting Skinnier Day by Day

Hollows in Cheeks, Neck and Chest Growing Deeper Every Week

Someone Ought to Tell Him How to Gain Pounds of Solid Flesh and Look Like a Real Man.

Tens of thousands of thin, rundown men—yes, and women too—are getting discouraged—are giving up all hope of ever being able to take on flesh and look healthy and strong.

All such people can stop worrying and start to smile and enjoy life right now for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, which any druggist will tell you all about, in putting flesh on hosts of skinny folks every day.

One woman, tired, weak and discouraged, put on 15 pounds in five weeks and now feels fine.

All we know that Cod Liver Oil is full of vitalizing flesh producing vitamines, but many people can't take it because of its horrible smell and fishy taste and because it often upsets the stomach.

McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets are sugar coated and as easy to take as candy, and if any thin person don't gain at least 5 pounds in 30 days your druggist will give you your money back—and only 60 cents for 60 tablets. Ask any live pharmacist anywhere.

But be sure to get McCoy's, the original and genuine—imitations won't do—and bear in mind that for thin, sickly kids they are wonderful flesh builders—a very sickly child, age 9, gained 12 pounds in 7 months.—Adv.

TAPE IS OVERLOADED, TRADERS ARE CONFUSED

Market Stages Vigorous Comeback After Smoke Clears Away

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

Railroad stocks strong. Industrial stocks firm. Domestic bonds irregular. Foreign bonds firm. Call money 4½ per cent. Grain fairly steady. Copper irregular. Oil irregular. Cotton irregular. Rubber steady. Sugar steady. Pig iron steady. Foreign exchange steady.

New York, June 2—After reaching substantially higher prices today, the active stocks were bent backward sharply by a furious onslaught on the speculative favorites by professional traders in an effort to start the inevitable reaction.

Stocks poured into the market at an enormous rate, the ticker fell behind the market from 20 to 25 minutes, the tape failed to keep traders abreast of the actual dealings on the big board and confusion was the order of the day in the commission houses. When the smoke of battle cleared away, the market staged a vigorous recovery, and most of the active stocks regained all of their losses. Stocks sales in the first three hours were at the rate of more than 3,000,000 shares for the full session, and the market broadened out considerably as new favorites were pushed to the front.

Once more the stock market gave abundant evidence of its unusually strong technical position, as well as the enormous buying demand for the stocks of well managed American enterprises. Instead of wiping

FOURTH WARD CONTEST SEEN WITH CANDIDACY

Edward G. Roberts Files Declaration for City Council; Haldeman Already In

A contest for the Republican nomination for city council in the fourth ward developed this morning when Edward G. Roberts, 178 Union st, filed a declaration of candidacy at the office of the Marion County Board of Elections.

He will be a candidate for the nomination against Grant Haldeman, 368 Girard av, who filed his declaration several days ago.

Both candidates are well known shop employes. Haldeman is an employe of the Marion Steam Shovel Co and Roberts is a machinist at the Osgood Co plant. He was formerly superintendent of the Fairbanks Steam Shovel Co.

This is the first venture for both in the local political field.

Several candidates for various city offices now have their declarations on file. All are Republicans with the exception of T. J. Mead, Democratic member of council from the second ward who is a candidate for re-election.

Those who are annoyed by what is have taken the first step to create something better.

FORECLOSURE OF MORTGAGE ASKED IN SUIT

Action Filed by Columbus Loan Company Against R. S. Woodrow

Suit asking for foreclosure of a mortgage on a farm of 320 acres in Salt Rock Township was started in the court of common pleas by the Buckeye State Building & Loan Co. of Columbus against Richard S. Woodrow and others. The petition states that principal and interest now due on the mortgage total $29,540.44, and judgment is asked for that amount.

Other defendants named in the petition are the Marion Savings Bank Co., which holds a claim against the property, Clementine Fraser, who holds title to the land at this time, Ephriam and Raymond Borders, tenants of the farm, Samuel F. Swinehart, who assumed the mortgage through transfer from Woodrow, and Edith O. Woodrow, wife of Richard S. Woodrow.

Executed in 1919

The mortgage, the original amount of which was $28,000, was executed on Feb. 17, 1919.

The petition states that Clementine Fraser, who now holds title to the land did not agree to pay the claims of the plaintiff company or the Marion Savings Bank Co.

The court is asked to appoint a receiver for the property to collect rental from the tenants during pendency of the suit.

The petition asks that after foreclosure and sale of the land that the loan company's mortgage be recognized as first lien and paid prior to other claims.

Divorce Suit Filed

Earl Stewart is plaintiff in a divorce suit started against Trenna Stewart in the court of common pleas yesterday in which he charges his wife with gross neglect, cruelty and abandonment.

The plaintiff says that they were married in Findlay, Aug. 11, 1923, and have no children. While living in Lima, he states, his wife made a practice of taking trips to Findlay which caused him considerable annoyance. He states that he finally followed her to Findlay and found her in the company of another man at a park dance pavilion.

When he remonstrated Stewart asserts, his wife informed him that she would "do as she pleased."

Mrs. Stewart deserted him in February, 1924, the plaintiff states, and he has had no knowledge of her since about since that time.

Stewart is represented by firm of Carhart & Warner.
